For County Register.

CAM. M. GATES FOR COUNTY REGISTER.—To the voters of Shelby county: I offer my name as a candidate for the office of Register. I am conversant with the duties of that office, and consider myself competent to their faithful discharge. I ask your suffrages because I need the position. Many of you have known me as a constant resident among you for over thirty-eight years. To such I feel that I need no recommendation; and to you I confidently refer those who may not know me, or my qualifications, for the position. Very respectfully,

June 13, 1878.

EDITORS APPEAL-Having an occasion t meet an old colored man living in the city, thought I would find out how he stood politi-cally, so I accosted him thus: "Well, Bob, what ticket do you think of voting at the next election?" "I tell you, I is going to vote the Democrat ticket this time. I don't like the pedigree of the National ticket. Some good men on it, I guess; but, I tell you, dar's Mr. Turner, he tells me if I don't vote for him my children will be begging bread 'fore the year is out. I don't know what to think of dat man. Now, last year, just before the mayor's 'lection, Mr. Turner was a terrible Democrat, and 'cause I voted for Flippin he ranted mightily. Then I hear Mr. Turner, last spring, at the Greenlaw Operahouse, lecturing on temperance. Him and Mr. Linkum said that it was the drunkard's children that went begging bread Now, I tell you, I is no drunkard; and, furthermore, I don't like to see a man turning so much just to get 'lected. No, sir, I is going to vote strate out for the Democratic ticket, you bet." SEEB SOGGINS.

MIXED MATRIMONY.

Mississippi Planter Comes North in Search of a State whose Laws will Let him Marry his Daughter-in-Law.

St. Louis Times, Sunday: A gentleman who arrived from Cairo, yesterday, furnished a Times reporter with the particulars of a rather romantic affair in the matrimonia way, which occurred there on the twentythird, during the informant's brief stay at the St. Charles hotel. Mr. Alfred Boyce, of Chicka-aw, Mississippi, a respectable looking elderly gentleman of sixty-five years, or thereabouts, arrived and registered. He was accompanied by a lady, whom he represented as his niece. She was apparently twentyfive, and blooming as a rose. Soon after his arrival, Mr. Boyce took the proprietor into his confidence. He desired to marry the lady who accompanied him, and she was willing enough. Unfortunately the laws in Mississippi in relation to consanguinity barred the proposed alliance. The ady was none other than the widow of his late son, who departed this life about two years ago. He went to the county clerk at Chickasaw, a few weeks ago, and procured icense for the proposed marriage. Afterward the clerk sent him word in great haste that the license would have to be revoked, as he had discovered that the 'aws of Mississippi did not permit wedlock tween parties bearing such relationship. 1 Boyce is a very respectable gentleman, on a couple of plantations, and standing high his community. Nothing was further from his in-tentions than the assumption of relations which the laws of his State would not permit. He put a legal friend to work looking up the statutes, and found that the law was are there, wishing a glorious victory may up the statutes, and found that the law was crown your efforts against the combination of similarly strict in other southern States. When he first came to Cairo, Mr. Boyce was under the im-pression that he would have to remain three months and acquire some kind of a residence before the license could be obtained; but the dispatch with which he was enabled to execute his plans surprised him very agreeably.
Both Mr. and Mrs. Boyce, it is said, have children in Mississippi by former unions.
